The New Army Order and Defiant Attitude of Hungary-Excitement In and From Galicia-The Concentration of Troops and Its Object-War Russirs from the East and Russia-The Carnival, Balls. Dances. and Suppers, &cc.

VIENNA, Jan. 15, 1867.

As was expected the promulgation of the new arms law has produced the most profound discontent and gives rise to the greatest agitation in Hungary. A declaration passed in their Diet in accordance with a resolution of the empire as distinctly refuse to accept the law a e it would not be at all to their distaste.

Should the line which both parties are now following position, or indeed come down an iota in their demanda. To prevent an open rupture the Emperor's ministry will, therefore, be forced to annul the execution of the obnotions hav in Hungary; and, as the new law is just as odious in any other part of the empire as it is in Hungary, just as much detested in Bohemia as in Hungary, just as much detested in Bohemia as in Hungary, just as in Dalmatia or Hiyria—It is not probable that the inhabitants of those provinces will brook its revocation in stubborn Hungary, if they also do not enjoy the same favor. Before long, therefore, the law will be revoked or the fruits of a persistence in the present policy must lead to a rupting between the subjects and their severe gn. I think the former the more likely event of the two, and Baron Von Johns' claborate report, original enactments and general levy will have been a nine days' wonder set forth as an anuscement to the people, as a bait to their desire for innovation, and—cease to exist.

elf on this occasion with a few brief remarks on the cipal "species" of them.

The course the Emperor's "picnics," as they are d, the most select and consequently stiff affairs in score; none but those in dipionatic carcies receive lations, with the exception of officers of the Austrian y, who, as usons, have free admittance every where as "picnics" are held in the "Redoubten Saal" of the serior's Palace, and are more worthy of note for the best of "dipionatic swells" and archdukes et hos genus who attend than for the brilliancy of the dreums or these of the scores. Es passand I will remark that Redoubten saal is lighted by fifteen hundred tapers being nowhere employed in the Emperor's palace, applie of conveniently accommodating five hundred ple of denoters, and is in every way adapted for the puss.

couple of denours and is in every way shaped for the purpose.

The music used on these occasions is always two or more bands from some favorite regiment.

Next come the "Redoubten bails," held in the same room, and to which any one can obtain admittance by porchasing a ticket, waise $1. These balls are semi-insisted ones. That is, ladies go marked and gentlemen do not. This of course occasions much fan, and many a man tas had an agreeable firstation with his wife or sister, only interrupted by the ladies' pity for her decrived relative. They are called balls, although no dancing takes place. Welking shout, firting, ice eating, rendez-tous giving and mischler making constitute the principal run or the evening, in which the Emperor's brothers and the "cousinity" Archdukes partake on every occasion. Notwithstanding the ense with which any one can obtain admittance, it is rather remarkable to see the decoursm, not stiff and formal, but easy and free, which pervades the society.

The masked balls in the suburban theatree are excellent, well attended and select, sithough, as in the former case, it is easy to obtain a card of admission. Here dancing is carried on to a great exteent and to a late hour. A ball at a theatre only differs from those in the Redoubten, in that gestlemen size are masked and that there is dancing.

There are nightly very many balls in old setablished

A fact has been communicated to me within the last day or so which goes to show that the government must be in possession of information respecting the C. O. I. R. I have been informed through an authentic source that instructions have been issued to the police to be on the lookout for Stephens, who is believed to be in the country with three or four henchmes, whose descriptions are communicated.

So strangely contradictory, however, are the accounts about the man that the statement which is now given may be associated for doubt. United States and Ressian Securities Contracted as Investments Abrend.

From the London Times, Jan. 16.]

The publication of Mr. McCulloch's report on the federal finances, coming, as it did, soon after the issue of a new Reassian ions, must have excited a question in many minder why the securities of the United States and of the Reassar empire should be held in such different estimation by investors. The price of Russian five per centain the English market is above $6, as which rate of purchase the investor obtains something less than six per cent bonds, is 72, which makes the rate of interest on investment just eight and at third per cent. The difference is the rate of interest on investment just eight and at third per cent. The difference is the rate of interest on investment just eight and at the reset is considerably, more than two-in fact, nearly two and a half per cent, besides which the five-invests points are, payable in less than twenty years, when the holder pruchasing at the present prices will receive by way of bonus an addition of more than a tised to bis capital. This discrepancy is at first skele-not useful intelligible. The social order of Russia, as of the States, has undergone a violent change within a very few years; the abelition of seridom is a fact no less important than the abolition of services the mass of miles plainters in the Southern States. If the stability of the institutions of America be not thoroughty assured, no one can pretend us say that the social and political condition of Russia is one whit more firmly fixed. But if we proceed from a general survey of each country to a detailed examination of their finances, our perplexity might fairly increase. Mr. McCulloth can truthfully boast that be in reducing the American debit, and be can point to circumstances which premise that the reduction shall continue. The Russian loss, which as regulations.

The Prench Claims on Count Bismarck.
The Angsburg Gasette of a recent date says:—On the 24th of July M. Benedetti, Ambassador of France, made a communication to Count Bismarck, of which the following are the main features:—The Nether and territories having belonged till then to the ex-German Confederation, to be excluded from any new political union, with Germany, and Pruesia to renounce ber right of garrisoning Luxemburg. Retrocession to France of the territories of Saarcious, of Sarrebreck, and its coal basin, both obtained by fruesia at the second peace of Paris. Cession to France of the Rhenan Bavaria and Hesse, the soverigns of those States to receive compensations in Germany.
Those territorial claims embraced a much larger extent of territory than the one France was compelled to restore to Germany in 1815. In getting possession of the Rhenan Bavaria, and the coal district of the Earre, France would have obtained two fortresses, Landau and Saarcious, and also Mayence, the boluwirk of Germany, Morsover, once Luxemburg having ceased to belong to the German Federation, Holland would have had no longer any interest to pay the expenses of the fortress the German Federation, Holland would have had no longer any interest to pay the expenses of the forress of the Grand Duchy, which would then have to be garrisoned by the French or demollahed.

The Augsburg Gazette adds that it is a matter of public notoriety that the territorial compensations claimed by France have not been withdrawn, and that the day when France will deem, proper to press them again is perhaps not far distant.

THE INDIAN OUTRAGES.

Torana, Feb. 4, 1867.

The report of the late Indian massacre is consensed by a letter received by Governor Crawford from a well known citizen of Salina, Kansas. The massacre co-curred in the vicinity of Sand Creek, on the route from-Fort Riley to Fort Lincoln. The train is spoken of as a government train, and only four out of the sixty-three men with it escaped. The letter further states that small parties of Chewomes have been several times near the settlements, and that the Arraphees have passed through the settlements being afraid to go home by the small route across the head, waters of Salina and the Solema Forks. The Kawa also waters of Salina and the Solemn Forks. The Laws also report large bodies of hostile Indians near the frontier settlements. The writer's opinion is that the Indians will confine their depredations to the travelled coads. Advices from the river Platte state that a force of Indians from that quarter had moved South on the war path, to the number of twelve thousand; and there were not United States forces enough to cope with this num-ber; and if the militia had to do it, they should be
